Real-Time Benefits of Self-Knowledge:

Self-discovery through assessments can be intuitive, as well as fun. It reveals how unique we truly are from our neighbor; how we differ from even our immediate family members. More importantly, assessments provide illuminating evidence about our individual values and motives ... Insight we can utilize for keen decision-making, life direction, and in support of fulfilling our purpose.

For instance, BECOME might consider:

- Does my potential job create stress by requiring me to push my comfort zone? (BECOME is better suited to a job that utilizes one's mastered skills)
- Does my fiancé act impulsively or disregard prudence? (BECOME wants a secure and predictable future)
- And, parents can prepare a safe context for incorporating a new concept to BECOME children by modeling first and then asking them to try.

We welcome questions about your assessment and findings. For personalized interpretation, as well as StrengthFinder and Motive Traits definitions and tools, we invite you to visit us online at www.genewize.com/assessment.

Just a Note ...

While your assessment answers identify preferences toward BECOME characteristics, we do not imply that BECOME is an exclusive tendency. Most people have varying degrees and combinations of preferences toward each of the BE, HAVE, DO, and BECOME types. That exquisite blend is the spice of your individualism.
