have

HAVE is a goal-oriented driver who finds nothing more rewarding than attacking a challenge that promises success.

Achievement ... Strategic Enterprise ... Influence ... Striving ... Autonomy ... Performance ... are vital signs and concepts that resonate with HAVE.

With a mission to excel, HAVE enjoys exploration and accomplishment that bears eminence. An opportunity with a big payback is HAVE- irresistible

HAVE aspires to strategic enterprise that is success driven and will compete to achieve desired results.

With the aggressive realism that creates successful entrepreneurs, HAVE has the acumen to calculate the degree of risk and select moderate risk options for success.

HAVE may avoid low-risk situations, believing that easily attained success is not genuine achievement and similarly avoid high-risk projects, perceiving success comes from chance rather than self competence.

HAVE expresses self with concern for others. HAVE likes performance-related feedback, preferring to work alone or with other high achievers.

The results-achieving HAVE makes a good leader and may tend to expect the same degree of drive (too much?) from subordinates and colleagues.

Real-Time Benefits of Self-Knowledge:

Self-discovery through assessments can be intuitive, as well as fun. It reveals how unique we truly are from our neighbor; how we differ from even our immediate family members. More importantly, assessments provide illuminating evidence about our individual values and motives ... Insight we can utilize for keen decision-making, life direction, and in support of fulfilling our purpose.

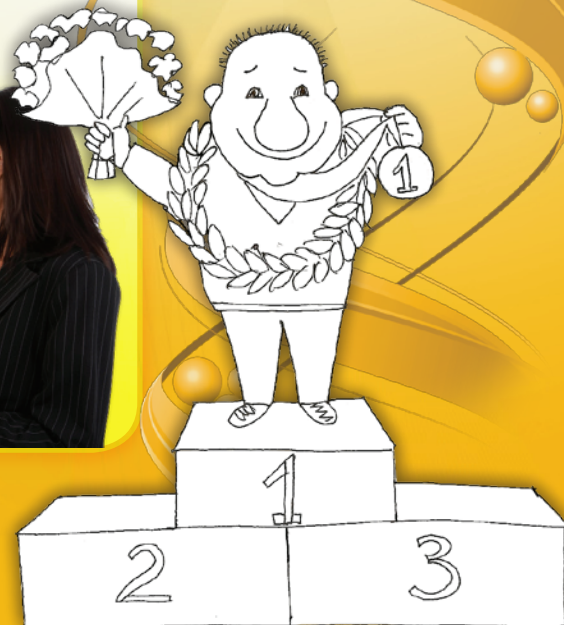

For instance, HAVE might consider:

- Does my potential job produce the same results, regardless of my input? (HAVE is better suited to a position where one's competence impacts success)
- Will my fiancé take calculated risks to attain desires and achieve life goals? (Optimistic HAVE seeks prosperity through strategy and competitiveness)
- And, parents of HAVE children may find their best approach is to pay allowance per completed tasks. (tit for tat)

Just a Note ...

While your assessment answers identify preferences toward HAVE characteristics, we do not imply that HAVE is an exclusive tendency. Most people have varying degrees and combinations of preferences toward each of the BE, HAVE, DO, and BECOME types. That exquisite blend is the spice of your individualism.
